

The Earth in the Process of Changes

Interview with Omnec Onec, Venusian and spiritual teacher

Omnec, since the middle of the Nineties you have been speaking about the “Spiritual Transformation of the Earth”. What is meant by this transformation process?

With the development of nuclear power in the last century, the technical development overtook the spiritual evolution of mankind on Earth. The possibility of being able to completely destroy the planet and all life forms on it caused big concerns among those beings who feel responsible for the development of humans on Earth. The law of non-interference forbids them, however, to take direct action, although attempts were made to speak with the rulers of the Earth and get them to rethink. These attempts were unsuccessful, because the power of the negative forces on the Earth were still outrageous, and because the rulers were more interested in the highly advanced technology of the extraterrestrials, as well as secrecy, instead of any spiritual knowledge.

The spiritual transformation of the Earth means that the vibration of the population is slowly raised. Through this process, more and more people realize that everything is connected with each other and that love is the source of creation.

Meanwhile, 20 years have passed since you went to public with this information about the Transformation Process. In your view, what has changed since then?

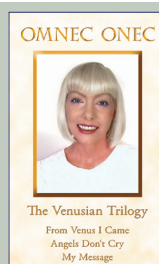

I can observe many changes for the better – the mass consciousness of the people is much more advanced and everywhere, all over the world, people aspire for freedom. Of course, there are still opposing forces trying to keep people’s awareness low, but these forces will gradually lose their power. The meditation program “Operation Peace”, which I launched in 1994 is, for example, very successful. Every Wednesday for about ten minutes, the people who participate in this program send love and blessings to the world or to a selected project - so this is a 24-hour process when you consider the time differences around the earth. People should be aware, that they themselves have created the circumstances on the earth the way they are now, and that they have the power to cause changes and create a world for themselves they really wish to live in. I taught this in my workshops and write about it in my books: You yourself decide what happens! You are Soul and as Soul you are a part of the source of creation. You all have the same creative abilities as the Creator Itself, and therefore, you create every moment of your world. The transformation process of the earth serves to make people use their creative energy consciously again and cease being victims of the already prevailing circumstances.

On the occasion of the re-release of your books, CDs and DVD-lecture in Europe you were on a promotion tour in fall 2011. What questions were asked most frequently about “The Transformation Process of the Earth”?

In every book presentation I was asked: “What will happen in 2012?” I explained again and again: It is up to you! All prophecies and predictions are tools of the negative forces to divert your attention away from creating your desired reality. You’d better not concentrate on anything that you do not want to, but deliberately use your energies only for what you wish and what you want to have. So you create the world in which you really want to live.
